1:1 PRIVATE CONSULTING

Private coaching for those operating at the highest levels of their field.

I. The Engagement

Dr. Alina Schulhofer offers private, 1:1 coaching for executives, founders, leaders, professional athletes, and others committed to closing the gap between where they are and what they're truly capable of.

Grounded in the proprietary Architecture of Excellence™ framework, each engagement takes a comprehensive approach to understanding and developing the individual behind the performance. The work integrates psychological insight, executive coaching, strategy, and skill-building to explore the patterns and dynamics that influence leadership, decision-making, relationships, well-being, and personal and professional development.

Rather than focusing exclusively on immediate professional challenges or external achievements, the process considers the broader psychological and relational dimensions of high performance. Informed by Dr. Schulhofer's extensive academic and clinical training as a licensed psychologist, this approach brings depth to the understanding of human behavior, relationships, and performance while remaining distinctly nonclinical.

Each engagement is highly individualized, combining structured exploration with targeted development and practical application. The objective is to strengthen the internal capacities and external strategies that support meaningful growth, enhanced functioning, and sustainable excellence.

II. The Architecture of Excellence™ Framework

The engagement is grounded in the proprietary Architecture of Excellence™ framework, which provides a structured foundation for understanding and developing the psychological, relational, and behavioral dimensions of high performance.

The process encompasses four interconnected pillars that inform the initial exploration, individualized strategy, and ongoing developmental work. The specific pillars and their applications are introduced and explored once the engagement has commenced.

While the framework provides a consistent methodological foundation, the areas of focus and direction of the work are tailored to each individual's circumstances, objectives, and developmental needs.

III.

The Process

01 Exploration & Assessment

The initial four sessions are typically dedicated to an in-depth exploration of the individual's personal and professional landscape, guided by the Architecture of Excellence™ framework. This structured exploratory process considers the individual's current circumstances, professional responsibilities, personal history, strengths, challenges, relational dynamics, and aspirations.

Particular attention is given to identifying recurring patterns, internal and external obstacles, and opportunities for meaningful development. The purpose of this phase is to establish a comprehensive understanding of the individual and the factors shaping their leadership, performance, relationships, well-being, and personal and professional functioning.

This is a developmental exploration conducted within a nonclinical consulting relationship, not a psychological diagnostic assessment.

02 Individualized Strategy & Development

Following the initial exploratory phase, we collaboratively establish a targeted developmental strategy based on the individual's priorities, objectives, and circumstances, provided in writing. Subsequent sessions integrate psychological insight, executive coaching, strategy, skill-building, and practical application.

Depending on the individual's needs, the work may involve developing greater self-awareness, strengthening leadership capacities, improving relational effectiveness, navigating complex professional demands, and translating insight into meaningful behavioral change. The process remains flexible and responsive to evolving circumstances while maintaining continuity around the individual's broader developmental objectives.

03 Integration & Continued Development

At the conclusion of the engagement, or another mutually agreed milestone, clients receive a comprehensive written integration report.

For clients who continue beyond the initial three-month period, the work evolves according to their developmental needs. The comprehensive integration report is generally provided at the conclusion of our work together rather than following every monthly renewal, unless otherwise agreed.

IV.

Written Deliverables

Two written documents form substantive components of the engagement, providing structure to the work and a lasting point of reference.

FOLLOWING PHASE 01

Written Developmental Strategy

Following the initial exploratory phase, a targeted developmental strategy is collaboratively established based on the individual's priorities, objectives, and circumstances.

The written strategy outlines the principal areas identified, the direction of our work, and the specific objectives we intend to address.

AT CONCLUSION OR AGREED MILESTONE

Comprehensive Integration Report

Synthesizes the principal areas explored, key insights, progress toward established objectives, and individualized recommendations for continued growth and integration.

Its purpose is to consolidate the work undertaken and provide a meaningful reference for continued personal and professional development.

V.

Areas of Focus

Depending on the individual's circumstances and objectives, the engagement may address:

01 Identification of patterns limiting leadership and performance growth

02 Relational and emotional intelligence

03 Leadership presence, clarity, and decision-making

04 Navigating pressure and complex organizational demands

05 Clarification of vision, values, and legacy

06 Ongoing strategic support and accountability

These areas are illustrative rather than exhaustive. Each engagement is shaped by the individual's unique context, priorities, and developmental needs.

Structure & Investment

INITIAL ENGAGEMENT

$15,000

Three-month private consulting engagement

- A three-month commitment
- Up to eight hours of individualized consulting per month
- Flexible scheduling by mutual arrangement
- Priority scheduling consideration, subject to availability
- Agreed-upon between-session advisory communication
- An initial structured developmental exploration
- A collaboratively established developmental strategy
- A written summary of developmental priorities and objectives
- Ongoing individualized consulting, strategy, and skill-building
- A comprehensive written integration report at the conclusion of the engagement or another mutually agreed milestone

Payable in advance.

CONTINUED ENGAGEMENT

$5,000 / month

Following the initial three-month engagement, clients may elect to continue on a month-to-month basis, subject to mutual agreement.

- Up to eight hours of individualized consulting per month
- Flexible scheduling by mutual arrangement
- Agreed-upon between-session advisory communication
- Continued strategic support, skill-building, and accountability
- Ongoing refinement of developmental priorities as circumstances evolve

Monthly fees are payable in advance.

The engagement is designed to provide the continuity, depth, and individualized attention necessary for meaningful developmental work.

The eight-hour monthly allocation may be distributed across sessions according to the client's needs and mutual scheduling arrangements.

Between-session communication is provided within agreed professional boundaries and does not constitute unlimited or immediate access.

Continuation allows for sustained developmental work without requiring a further three-month commitment.

The comprehensive written integration report is generally provided at the conclusion of the overall engagement or another mutually agreed milestone, rather than automatically following each monthly renewal.

VII.

Individualized 1:1 Support

Each engagement is tailored to the individual's goals, circumstances, and developmental needs.

To ensure the depth, continuity, and individualized attention this work requires, Dr. Schulhofer accepts only a limited number of private consulting clients at any given time.

The relationship is designed to provide a confidential, thoughtful, and intellectually rigorous space for exploration, strategic development, and practical application.

IX.

Professional Scope

1:1 Private Consulting is a nonclinical service focused on personal growth, leadership development, and performance enhancement.

Although informed by Dr. Schulhofer's training and professional experience as a licensed psychologist, the engagement does not constitute psychotherapy, psychoanalysis, psychological diagnosis, mental health treatment, or crisis services. The consulting relationship does not establish a psychologist-patient relationship.
